NOTICE FOREIGN SHIPMENTS

It is required that a veterinarian certificate for shipping accompanies most shipments. An exact list (common name and scientific name of animal) of the contents along with the original bill of lading and any export permits, and certificates must be sent to the consignee. Copies must be attached to the container itself. We must receive the original bill of lading and the contents list and export permits or it is impossible to get the trophies released. Swine parts should be packaged separately because of different processes that are needed in their importation. I will recommend a broker who will be able to expedite the importing of your trophies. I (RICHARD G. SANTOMAURO) am only a taxidermist and I am not associated with any tannery, shipping agent, broker or transport company. You the owner (client) are responsible for all of the tanning extras, initial trophy care, punch marking, and processing, shipping, crating and any and all permits to release your trophies into my shop and then shipping to the tannery. They might include any shipping and handling, permits, licenses, veterinarian certificates, storage fees, and broker fees to name a few. Clients, who wish any insurance or processing above what is offered by the tannery, Transport Company, or broker, must ask in writing about the additional cost and will be responsible for the cost and procurement of the insurance. RICHARD G. SANTOMAURO always takes Reasonable care of your trophies. It is further understood and agreed that the goods received by RICHARD G. SANTOMAURO will not be valued more than the lowest current market value of a similar average item, and that taxidermy is separate of any and all tanning, shipping, booking or outfitting business. We will use reasonable care but cannot knowingly accept goods under any other condition.
